

Ensuring the Safety of Sleeping Children

At Incey Winceys Day Nursery and Preschool we adhere to the following policy and procedures to check on children while they are sleeping at our setting:

In the Baby Room:

- We have monitors in each of the baby cot rooms which are turned on, the correct channel is selected and the volume is high enough to allow staff to hear the monitor at all times.
- When the baby room staff and children go to the garden, at least one member of staff stays in the baby room to listen for the monitor(s) and check on sleeping babies.
- Children in the cot rooms are checked on every 10 minutes, and the member of staff ticks the form with the time and their initial.
- A member of staff is within ear shot or eye sight of the sleeping children in the room.
- As a sleeping child wakes up, they are accompanied into the available playing rooms.
- Children sleep at alternate ends of the bed to avoid the unnecessary spread of germs.
- The temperature of sleep rooms is monitored to ensure the safety of sleeping children. In the event of the temperature being outside the acceptable levels (between 16°C and 20°C) the cot room is not used until this has been rectified.
- Sheets and blankets are washed regularly with a clear rota, and children's sheets or blankets are never shared.
- Children in the cot room are put to bed on their back in line with SIDS (Sudden Infant Death Syndrome) advice. There are also strict no smoking policies in place.

In the Ants Room:

- Children sleep on fold out mats in the quiet room.
- The sleeping children are always within ear shot or eye sight of an adult.
- The temperature of the rooms is regulated using a thermostat to ensure the safety of sleeping children.
